Why choose apparel manufactured from recycled yarn?

Recycled yarns have a reduced carbon footprint and are more sustainable. They lower the dependency on precious natural resources like land and fresh water and avoid the need for harmful chemicals, fertilisers, pesticides and dyes, which are detrimental to the environment.

Selected Okiyo garments are manufactured from recycled yarn produced by Usha Yarns. In-house research, quality control and the most modern production facilities ensure they produce high quality recycled yarns, which consistently meet global standards.
